

Lady Victoria

Weddings

Set in the wonderfully restored Lady Victoria Colliery - one of the finest Victorian industrial monuments in Europe - the Scottish Mining Museum is a five star visitor attraction which tells the story of Scotland's mining heritage and is the last remaining colliery in Scotland. The Scottish Mining Museum offers a truly unique venue for your special day.

- The Old Power House - an elegant function space featuring stunning Victorian architecture and an impressive 18th century beam engine
- The perfect venue for civil and religious wedding ceremonies
- Use of the pit-head for a drinks reception with a difference
- Fantastic photo opportunities combining industrial heritage with our BBC Beechgrove Garden
- Seating for up to 120
- Wedding menus and buffet menus to suit all tastes
- Scottish Mining Museum invitations and stationery
- Dedicated wedding co-ordinator
- Pipers, bands, decorations etc can be arranged on request

"We had an excellent, stress free wedding thanks to the staff at the Scottish Mining Museum. Our guests are all still talking about what a wonderful facility it is! We couldn't have asked for a more perfect day." Jenny & Mark, Gorebridge

Located on A7 at Newtongrange, just nine miles south of Edinburgh and 5 minutes from the city by-pass.
